

Help Refine the Community Vision

It is the vision of the citizens, planners, and elected officials, who have all contributed to this plan, to guide and manage change and development to:

- Support and promote a diverse social and economic population that includes a resident work force;
- Preserve the traditions and character of the Rocky Mountain West and Wyoming, including ranching and through architectural design;
- Promote economic sustenance that does not depend on population growth;
- Set aside, for generations to come, scenic vistas and wildlife habitat;
- Maintain and enhance environmental quality, including air and water quality;
- Maintain outdoor recreation and adventure opportunities; and
- Offer a spectrum of housing types, especially for resident workers.

Question:

Is the 1994 vision for our community still valid today? If not, what would you change or add to it to reflect your vision for the community?
